FOURTH DAY.

The sourt room was again crowded, and the effluvia arising from the mingled multitude huddled together, produced an atmosphere more resembling that of a distillery of bad rum, than a court of justice. The testimony commenced, on the part of the prosecution, by calling MICHAEL LYONS, who testified-I reside at 478 Pearl;

mony commenced, on the part of the prosecution, by selling Michael Lyons, who testified—I reside at 478 Pearl;
I attend a liquor store, as clerk, for my brother; I know Alderman Kelly, of the Sixth ward; I saw Alderman Kelly at our store, but I do not recollect the evening; it was about 8 o'clock; that night, the alderman drank ones; I don't keep an account of the drinks persons take; the alderman was perfectly sober on that evening. The Macistriate here remarked that he hoped no more witnesses would be produced, whose testimony was irrelevant, and did not touch the matter at issue.

EDWARD RILLY, being sworn, aspa-I reside at 20 Elm street; I am a policeman of the Sixth district; on the night in question, I saw the alderman in Mr. Lee's porter house, in Centre street; about 1 o'clock, I was attracted to the spot by a noise inside the house; I heard ioud and boisterous talking inside; Hooked in at the door, and saw Alderman Kelly and others Ridaboek, and two or three others—commonly called paper boys; ene was called "Lemons," another "Rooney," (laughter.) "Sullivan," &c.; they go by various names; they were using very coarse and vulgar language together; I think about polities; they were drinking at the bar; they were. I should say, under the influence of liquor; they appeared to be much excited; I consider they were able to go home; in the course of the conversation, I heard Alderman Kelly any he would bet five dollars to twenty shillings that he (Alderman Kelly) would beat Jehn Foot over 100 vetes, at the coming election; the boys seemed not to be able to raise the twenty shillings that he (Alderman Kelly; I did not see the prisoner do anything to justify me to arrest him; I stood looking in at the door a short time; less than five minutes; I have no personal ill feelings towards Alderman Kelly; I may have politically, but I don't consider that dishting a man personally.

Q—Haveyou used any profane language and abusive epithets towards Alderman Kelly in Dr. O'Neil's store, corner of Centre and Pearl streets'

The witness here objected to answer the question, he magistrate ruled that if the answer would not tend degrade or criminate him, he must answer the mastion.

A.—I was told, in Dr. O'Neil's store, that if Alderman Kelly was re-elected, I should be the first man dismissed frem office; I remarked that I did not care, that I asked no favors of the alderman; that was about the substance of the conversation; I don't know whether I used any more violent language than on ordinary occasions.

I used any more violent language than on ordinary oceasions.

Q —Did you make use of the following expressions:—

That the alderman was a d —d scoundrel, and a loafer, a son of a b—h, and that you did not care a d—n if Alderman Kelly was elected?

A —The last part is about true, but I never called a man the former names; but I thought the measures of the alderman were tyrannical; I might possibly have made use of those names; but if I did I meant politically, and not personally; (laughter) I don't think that I made use of the same expressions in Mr. Sherlock's store; I have no recollection of so doing; I have not circulated any handbills headed "An Alderman in Custody."

store; I have no recollection of so deing; I have not circulated any handbills headed "An Alderman in Custody."

Direct examination by Cartain Magnes.—Was, or was not, the conduct of Alderman Kelly, on that night, such that you deemed it advisable to go for some person to take him away from Lee's porter house?

A.—I considered the whole party so boisterous that if Alderman Kelly was removed it would stop the disturbance; I went for a friend of the alderman's, John Meintyre; one of his (the alderman's) body guards, I call him; (laughter) very shortly after Mr. Meintyre went in and spoke to the alderman; the alderman, at that time, was under the influence of liquor.

Isaac H. Austin, being sworn, says—I reside at No. 60 Elm street; I am a policeman of the Sixth district; I was in the station house on the night or morning in question, when Alderman Kelly was locked up; I remained in the station house; the alderman was sitting on a stool, resting with his left arm on the deak, swaying about; I don't think he was sober; I thought he was drunk; I remarked it to Mr. Connelly, one of the policemen; the alderman's face was red, and he kept awaying around on the stool.

The cross-cramination of this witness was not material.

James Nassurt, being sworn, on cross-cramination

The cross-examination of this witness was not material.

James Nessure, being sworn, on cross-examination by Alderman Kelly, said—I reside at No. 72 Elm street; i attend bar for my brother; I was in the Sixth district station house on the morning of the 12th instant; I heard Alderman Kelly converse with a young man called Sullivan and Captain Magnes, and I think the alderman spoke to Wooldridge; I thought the alderman did not speak my louder than the others; he stammered as any one would under, as I supposed, the influence of liquor; I heard Captain Magnes tell the alderman that he did not wish him to come there to insuit him, as Magnes was beneath his notice; it was said by the alderman in a stammering manner; I was sober on that evening: I drank liquor myself that night; I was not under the influence of liquor that night; I possibly had taken several glasses; I may have drank three times; I did not hear the alderman use any profane language on that evening: I did not hear the alderman say that he came to the station house for the purpose of discharging two prostitutes; I heard the alderman say he wanted Mr. Ridabock to remain behind the desk; I have no hostile feelings towards the alderman as a man! I am onposed to him politically.

say he wanted Mr. Ridabook to remain beside the desk; I have no hostile feelings towards the alderman as a man; I am opposed to him politically. Q.—Was your brother-in-law discharged as lamp-lighter by Alderman Kelly? The magistrate here interposed, and said that he would not allow the witness to go into the lamp busi-ness; it was enough to remain among the police.— [Laughter] would not allow the witness to go into the lamp business; it was enough to remain among the police.—

[Laughter.]

Witness continued, and said that officer Wooldridge same inside the railing leading behind the desk, and took the alderman from behind, by the order of Capt. Magnes; I did not see the reeling or swaying of the alderman on the chair, as described by Mr. Austin; I don't know James Hegan; I saw a young man in the station house that night, called "Jumps." (Laughter) Mr. Wooldridge asked me to take the key of the cells, while he went to get something to est; during that time I took a ledger back, and locked him up, at the request of Captain Gardner; I am not a policeman, nor do I take the keys, but it was when I was a policeman; the handbill in question I have frequently before used the keys, but it was when I was a policeman; the handbill in question I have given some copies of to my friends, possibly half a dozen.

Direct, by Captain Magnes—Alderman Kelly was in the station house when I came in.

Question by Justice Mountront—Was Alderman Kelly under the influence of foliquor?

A.—I should say he was; I believe he was, although he might have been under the influence of opium.

This witness concluded the evidence on the part of the prosecution.

The Alderman opened his ease for the defence, and the presecution.

This witness concluded the evidence on the part of the presecution.

The Aldershan opened his case for the defence, and called to the stand—

John Lavden, who being sworn, said—I reside at No. 221 Fearistreet; I am a printer by trade; I had been attending to my business all day, and, on coming home between II and I2 o'clock on the day in question, a week ago last Thursday, I stepped into O'Mahan's porter house, in Centre street; a person came in, and cold me that the alderman was down at Mr. Lee's porter house, surrounded and beset by what are called Mat. Brennan's boys, and that I had better go down as soon as possible, and stop the muss; I went down immediately, and found the place quite crowded, one or two of whom were using abusive language, and threatening the alderman; I endeavored to prevent any violence being given to the alderman and Mr. Ridaboek; this young man, called Sullivan, was the one who threatened violence; the alderman requested silence; Sullivan was taken out by his friends, but shortly after rushed in again and struck the alderman on the forehead. The alderman then ordered of feer Riley to arrest Sullivan; on our way to the station bouse, Mr. Ridaboek asked the alderman to release a person detained in the station house for disorderly conduct, until the morning; I advised the alderman not to go into Sullivan's, on the corner of Franklin and Centre streets, to write out this discharge, as some of the young men from Lee's store neight come in and make trouble. The alderman then proceeded to the station house, and i followed in shortly after; when I got into the station house the aliderman was in the act of writing a communium entity after; when I got into the station house in shortly after; when I got into the station house the aliderman was in the act of writing a communium entity had a derman was in the act of writing a communium entity had a derman was in the act of writing a communium entity and the station house is a derman who had been so the parties to be discharged; Magnes then ordered to have any words with me; I then asked

Captain Magnes if I could go in and see the alderman; this he refused; he finally said I might go in with the doorman; this I refused to do, and said I would go to some higher authority, and went for Alderman Bard, whom I accompanied to the station house; Alderman Bard then wrote out a discharge for Alderman Bard tolk Kelly he was discharged; Kelly refused to come out of the sell until he was discharged by some higher authority, the Mayor or the President of the Board of Alderman; Alderman Bard and myself then want to Alderman James Kelly, of the Second ward, who returned with us back to the station house; Alderman James Kelly then wrote his uame in connection with Alderman Bard, and Alderman Patrick Kelly came from his cell; to the best of my opinion the alderman was not drunk; he talked as rational as he does now; I did not see Alderman Kelly, on that night, stagger; the conversation of the alderman on that occasion was as usual; he did not stammer as a man intoricated would probably do; the deportment of Alderman Kelly in the station house; that night in the station house; I did not hear the alderman request to discharge two prostitutes for keeping a disorderly house; I think if such remark had been made I should have heard it as I was very closs, say about two fact, from the alderman; I heard no other conversation between Alderman Kelly and Captain Magnes, except as above alinded to.

Cress-causined by Captain Magnes.—I cannot say if Mr. Casseriy positively made use of the words "big buck nigger. Ke.," Duts something to that effect, conveying that idea, of insulting language; Alderman Kelly answer promised me the situation of Capt. Magnes, in the result of Magnes being removed from office; I have said that Mr. Casserly had contradicted his own evidence; I was once an assistant captain of the Sixth ward police; for the last 15 years, from what I have seen at station and watch house, an alderman had a perfect right to come to the station house and they have always been treated gentlemanly, they have been show Proposals for enlarging locks on the Eric Canal have recently been seted upon by the Canal Board. Three locks have been awarded to competent contractors between Rochester and Brighton, which are to be com pleted by the 1st day of April, 1851, at which time the Canal will be navigable for long boats for the entire length. The locks at Clyde and Lock Berlin have also been awarded. The completion of these locks, together with those recently put under contract near Montesums, and the enlarging of two locks at Pittsford and Brighton-the whole of which are to be completed by the first of May, 1861-will add about 50 per cent to the capacity of the canal, permitting the largest sized boats to navigate it through its entire extent.

It will be seen, by the annexed extract from the London Times, of the 3d inst., that disclosures relative to the insolvency of Railroad Companies in Great Britain, still continue. There has not yet been one half told of the swindling operations of railroad managers in this country and in England. We have in this country as great bubbles in the railroad line, as can be produced in England or any other part of the world.

Some farther startling railway disclosures are in course of presentation to the public. The Caledonian line, with a capital of £4,306,000, is about to be placed under investigation, and if the allegations which have induced the shareholders to demand a committee shall prove to be well founded, another tale, as grievous as any that has yet been farnished, will shortly make its appearance. Mismanagement and reckies foily are the chief charges against the directors; while regarding their personal honor and intentions, there seems to be a favorable feeling. At the half-yearly meeting of the company held as Bdhibough, on Thursday, not only was the fact amounted, that not shalling of dividend could be paid, but it was shownered appearants without contradiction, that he line was so heartrieably involved, that no dividend could be paid for general years. Among the special point had which the committee will have to singuize are, the statement of one of the anditors, that in June last dividends on preference shares were paid out of the capital, to the extent of £17,250; the working of the line, at a cost of 60 per cent; and the concealments and mirrepresentations which lad the shareholders to sanction the three leases which have been adopted—one, it was observed, "at sight per cent, which had turned out worth more than three per cent; and a third, at any per cent, which paid, with the tumost requirity, a dividend of no pounds, no shillings, and no pence."

INTELLIGENCE BY THE MAILS.

Our Philadelphia Correspondence. PHILADELPHIA, October 20, 1819. Improvements-Mrs. Fanny Kemble-Amusements The Markets, Stocks, &c. When I was last in your city I was much struck with what appeared to me a rage for improvement; palaces of marble, granite, and free stone going up in all parts of the city, and in the great thoroughfares, such as Broadway, the Bowery, and Greenwich street, stores that were once considered spleadid, undergoing the extravagantly expensive process of being modernized, as it is termed. We, of Philadelphia, have something, too, to boast of in these particulars. Our merchants, our bankers, and our brokers, have been basking in the sunshine of commercial prosperity for so many successive years, that they have taken to building and improving, to show the world some enduring evidences of their present riches; and with State 6's above par, and State 5's as 87k, (as much as any five per cent. stock is worth) they are quite excusable. West of Broad street, some private mansions have been erected within the last year worthy in every respect to be the residence of a Wall street broker; and the time is fast approaching, if it has not already arrived, when a purely aristocratic atmosphere will hover over this favored locality. In Spring Garden, the number of really magnificent dwellings that are now in the course of erection almost exceeds behef. In Chesnut, Second, and Third streets, the new stores (of this year's growth) have actually a look of metropolitan splendor. The unsightly ruins of the old Mansion House have been taken down, and on the site of this once world-renowned hotel, four splendidhouses are now slowly raising. The first story is already up, and among the novelues of the day may be mentioned that over each window, executed in stone, is a shield, and on each shield is the barsinister, which no doubt denotes that the building is not to be constructed purely of one material, but a mixture of granite, bricks, and marble.

Mrs. Fanny Kemble gave her last reading this morning. I was present at her reading of "Othello" last evening, and a larger, more respectable, or more intellectual audience has seldom been seen in this city. She wore a white atin skirt, cut very low in the acek, and short leeves, and appeared to be in the enjoyment of he most robust health. Two splendid baskets of flowers were presented to her, which she acknowledged with a sweet smile and a graceful curtsey, at the close of the performance.

We have no change to notice in the flour or grain market, which continues dull, with a downward tendency. The cotten market is quiet. The prices of coffee and sugar are fully sustained.

Since the receipt of the Niagara's advices, there has been more activity in the stock market, at advance differences. The advance in State 5's improving, to show the world some enduring evidences of their present riches; and with State 6's Anniversary Celebration at Salt Lake.

[From the Frontier (lows) Guardian Sept. 16.]
July 24th being the anniversary of the arrival of Presidents Young and Kimball with the Pioneers, in the valley, the inhabitants were awoke by the firing of cannon, accompanied by martial musics, the brass band and martial music were then entired round the city in two carriages, playing their music alternately, and returned to the bower by seven o'clock. The bower is a building 100 feet long by 60 wide, built on 104 posts, and covered with boards, but, for the services of this day, a canopy or awning was extended about 100 feet from each side of the bower, to accommodate the vast multitude at dinner.

At half-past seven, the large national flag was unfurled, measuring 65 feet long, at the head of our liberty pole, which is 104 feet high, and was saluted with six guns, the ringing of the Nauvee bell, and martial music.

At eight, a salute of six guns and martial music, to call the multitude together; the bishops of the several wards arranging themselves in the sides of the aisles, with the banners of their wards unfurled, each bearing some appropriate inscription.

At a quarter past eight, the President of the State, twelve, and bands, went to prepare the eacort in the following order, at the house of Priest B. Young, under the direction of Lorenzo Snow, J. M. Grant, and R. D. Richards:—

Horace S. Eldridge, Marshal, on horseback, in military uniform.

Twenty-four silver Greya, led by Isaac Morley, Patriarch, cash having a staff painted red on the upper part, and abranch of white ribbons fastened on the top, one of them carrying the flag with the stare and stripes, and inscribed on it. "Liberty and Truth."

The ceremonies, on this occasion, occupy near a page of the Guardiam. They consisted of religious services, speeches, twenty-four toasts, as given by the twenty-four Bishops, &c, &c. We copy the following from these twenty-four toasts:

The State of Descret—Like the evening and the morning star, may the end and beginning of day be known to her.

The Law—Do unto other as you would have others
do unto you.

The Kingdom of Liberty—Free State Free Elements,

do unto you.

The following were among the volunteer tonsits.—

By P. P. Pratt.—"Descret, youngest sister of the republic: May she be a solace, strongth and comfect to the cid lady in her decilining years."

By John Taylor.—"The Ladles of the Lake, the Lilies of the Valley—Our mothers, wives and children: May their posterity, from generation to generation, be found to emulate their noble examples of virtue, patience, industry, and patriotism."

Brigham Young, Heber C. Kimball, and Willard Richards write from the valley to the church in Pottawattamic county, lowa, as follows:—

We can truly say that the saints live up to the old Mormon motto, and "mind their own business," by which the Valley of the Great Sait Lake is bursting into a city of habitations, where, if humility and love continue to inarease, with industry and economy, pienty and union will crown the efforts of all that the Lord designs to bless. Law suits and mobe are far from this valley of peace, and may they ever remain so.

The brethren in Pottawattamic county, lowa, Missouri, Nauvoc, and violities, must remember, pause and reflect, that when we cause to this valley there was no house nor fence, no corn nor wheat save what we brought with us, and that our every nerve and all our energies will be exerted to sustain ourselves, to build houses, fences, and raise grain, which from all appearances must command as high a price as from five to ten dollars for corn, and all other things in proportion.

When these small matters of journeying more than dollars for own, and all other things in proportion.

When these small matters of journeying more than 1,000 miles over the rage plains, and settling, and preparing to live and sustain curselves with the common necessaries of life are overcome, then the poor shall feel our helping hand to assist them to remove to this valley.

istransation from the Camarone Nation.—We learn that intelligence has been received at the War department, respecting an important National Council recently held by the Camanole Indians. This council lasted ten days, and its object was to cleet a new chief to rule the nation (in place of the one recently deceased) and the individual thus honored glories in the name of Buffalo liump. On being installed into office, after the indian fasion, this chief called upon his subordinates freely is express their opinions upon all mosters of the persons connected with the chief elicity to express their opinions upon all mosters of the persons connected with the chief elicity character. but none more so than that delivered by the newly elected shief himself. He maintained that he people had formerly made war upon Texas when it was "feedlo and alone," and had gained nothing; and he gave it as his opinion that if they now continued to make war upon Texas, since it had become a part of the United States, the result would be their utter destruction as a nation. He also expressed his determination to do all in his power to put a stop to the thirtying depredations which had been committed by a portion of his people against the white inhabitants, and expressed a hope that his efforts would be successful.—The prominent members of the Council having agreed to the, advice of Buffalo Hump, two subordinate chiefs were appointed to communicate in person the result to Captain Steele, of the 2d dragoons, at Fredericksburg, by whom a report was made to General Brocks, commanding in Texas, who forwarded it to the War Department.—National Intelligencer, Oct. 20.

The mail between Farmingville and Lynchburgh, Va., was robbed a few days since while on the route. A blind man was arrested, on suspicion of having committed the robbery.
