Puffalo Bill's Mirror of the Old Wild West.

DAYS OF INDIAN ROBBERS

The Indian is gone from the hills; the D'ainsman is a store-keeper; the buffalo has left only his dusty wallow, and the west of thirty years ago has grown to the habilisments of brick and asphalt, and out of blue stem and buffalo grass.

But this week the calendar will turn back on fiself. Buffalo Bill, with the best show that mortal man ever organized and sever equalled, unless it was by one of Caesar's triumphal entriès into Rome, is

Buffalo Bill will show the west to itself. He will show it in the glory of the old days of fast and brave riding, of heady charges into the Indians, the lightning dispatch of pony mails, the rush across the plains, the quick changes of horses, the onward rush across the open ,unfenced stretch of solitude. He will show to the people of this latter-day Kansas the Indians' sudden lunge down upon the road coach, the fight, the rescue. He will show the finest riders, not only of the plains, but those skirted masters of the horse, the Cossacks of Russia. He will show the daring Lances of jolly etd England, now our good friend, sie will show a troop of United States cavalry who are so much at home on horses that walking seems strange to them. He will show ar tillery work, doubly interesting because of the late war. He will show everything

In Wichita there are many old plainsmen. In the surrounding country and in | Croup; ex-Governor Boyd and the present Oklamoha there are many more. They Governor Holcomb, on each of whose staff will all be there, and there will be many he has been honored. The oratorical exan eye dimmed next Tuesday at the memory of the old life so vividly brought to mind by this unparallelled exhibition.

Major John M. Burke, general manager of the exhibition, arrived in the city yesterday and is quartered at the Carey ho Col. W. F. Cody for about twenty-five years. The last time he was in Wichita was in 1883, as a messenger from Col, Cody to Captain Dave Payne, the Oklahoma scout, who was a lifelong friend of Buffajo Bill, who rendered him great assistance he lived, Captain Payne had intended to accompany Col. Cody on a tour of Europe. The major also paid a visit to Chilococ creek, near Arkansas City, to Captain Couch, who was Payne's successor. Cody rendered material aid to Couch during his onen this fertile country. Major Burka was often with him there and was present in congress the night that a portion of the Oklassea country was opened to settlemight that neither of them lived to see the
